

COPY. Original on file 12-1-26

Otto T. Mallery,
9006 Crefeld Street
Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, P.A.

December 18, 1942.

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation

Toronto Station

Toronto, Canada

Gentlemen:

The broadcasting of Beethoven's Symphony in D Minor last night was glorious. The reception was as good as the performance. The tones of the violin were extraordinary in timber and sweetness. The whole performance equaled any of that Symphony and surpassed any over the air reception.

Who was the violinist? Please advise where her performances have been recorded as I would like to buy some.

Congratulations to her, the orchestra, and to the Station!

Sincerely yours,

(sgd.) Otto J. Mallery

OTM:B

